

LOCAL GENERAL HIGHLY HONORED

General Edward F. McGlachlin, already decorated by United States Government, Gets Croix de Guerre

CITATION SIGNED BY PETAIN

Pays Tribute to His Genius in Organizing and Commanding
First Army Artillery

The Bridgehead Sentinel is the name of a weekly newspaper that has been published for several months by members of the First division of the United States army. It is printed at Montabaur, Germany, which has been the headquarters of the division ever since American troops crossed the Rhine at Coblenz. In its issue of June 28th, which is the last number received here, the Sentinel said that on June 23 distinguished service crosses, croix de guerre and citations for acts of bravery were bestowed upon forty-two officers and enlisted men of the division and that on the following day similar honors were conferred upon about one hundred and fifty others. These medals were presented by Major General E. F. McGlachlin, who has been in command of the division since last November. After bestowing the decorations and citations Gen. McGlachlin addressed those who had been honored and in closing his address, spoke in part as follows:

McGlachlin Makes Address
"My observations of the great number of wounded and long service men in the Division convinces me that many cases worthy of decoration have been overlooked, and this conclusion has been strengthened by reading the casualty lists and the history of the Division, as well as by accounts of actions by officers who have had long service with it. Witnesses to acts of heroism and gallantry have in many cases been killed or evacuated, never to return, and many officers interested through sharing dangers have been separated from the Division. In order that deserving officers and men of the Division may be properly recognized by decorations I ask everybody, and particularly you who have already been decorated, to help me seek out every worthy case not yet properly recognized and to report it with the names of the necessary witnesses, to commanders of organizations, so that proper recommendations can be made."

Honored By French
The Bridgehead Sentinel, from which the above extract is taken, also contained the following:
"The commanding general of the First division, Major General E. F. McGlachlin, has been awarded the croix de guerre, with palm, by the Republic of France.
"The citation accompanying the award was received this week and is signed by Marshal Petain, commander-in-chief of the Armies of the East. The citation, dated April 25th, reads as follows:
"Major General Edward F. McGlachlin, commanding the First American Division, organized and commanded in remarkable fashion the Artillery of the First Army and due to his high accomplishments, military and technical, made of it a first-class instrument, as proved by the results obtained in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne attacks."

SHORTAGE IN COAL
PUT UP TO CONGRESS
Washington, D. C.—Urging congressional investigation of the coal situation, government officials and coal operators told the house rules committee that a fuel shortage was impending.
"Coal men fear the situation may get away from them and that prices may rise $5 or $6 a ton," declared C. E. Leshner of the geological survey. "Their advertising of the situation is in hope that this may be averted for they know that the condition would reflect on them."
Anthracite production since January 1 was 10,000,000 tons less than last year and bituminous 74,700,000 tons, Leshner said, due to lack of demand.
"The only remedy is for the consuming public to lay in supplies now."

NO FIRE PROTECTION

Night Watchman Looking after Safety of Amherst While System is Under Repair

Upon call from the village board of Amherst, a mass meeting of voters was held in the village hall last week to discuss the question of fire protection, while the mill of the Jackson Milling company is being repaired.

The question brought before the meeting was whether or not a temporary pumping plant should be established to bridge over during the few weeks the regular system is out of commission.
A number of property owners offered suggestions and it was estimated that a temporary plant would cost approximately $1,000. As there was no assurance that immediate action would be taken on the question, it was finally decided to await the completion of the present repairs. The village board holds the right to put in an emergency system without consulting the voters, but decided that it would be but fair to all concerned to put the matter before the people for decision.

On motion of L. A. Pomeroy it was decided to put on a night watchman during the time repairs are being made and until the fire protection system is once again in operation.

NEARLY EATEN ALIVE

Normalites Make Nature Study Trip and Find Mosquitoes by Millions

Two nature study classes of Prof. G. E. Culver at the Stevens Point Normal summer school, numbering 25 students in all, spent Saturday morning at what was formerly Blood's camp 12 miles above this city on the Wisconsin river. The trip up and back was made in the big Bukolt launch. The party left Stevens Point at 5:30 o'clock Saturday morning, returning at noon. Each student brought his or her breakfast along and the morning meal was eaten on the boat.

The nature study classes, under Mr. Culver's supervision, made a trip through the woods at the vicinity of the old Blood camp and were successful in naming 23 different species of birds.
But birds weren't all the Normalites found in abundance. Prof. Culver reports that there were just 140 millions of mosquitoes by actual count, and from their savage attacks on the party of local students, it appeared that they hadn't been fed for about six weeks.

SAYS STEVENS POINT LABORERS ARE THE BEST

J. M. Donahue returned to North Milwaukee Monday after spending several days at his home in this city. Mr. Donahue is just starting a big sewer job in North Milwaukee, and took a crew of 12 men down from Stevens Point to that city, to be employed on the job. Mr. Donahue believes that Stevens Point men are 50 to 75 percent better than the average laboring man, and for that reason imports as much help from this city as is possible on his contracts.

OPPOSED TO PARDON OF LAWYERS' Foe

Application for Release of Thomas Salisbury from State Prison Will Meet with Strong Opposition

The attempt to secure a pardon for Thomas Salisbury, who is serving a five-year sentence at Waupun for a murderous assault upon John Roberts, former district attorney of Wood county, will meet strong opposition.
Believing that the release of Salisbury would constitute a public menace, attorneys of Wood county, led by District Attorney Frank Calkins, are determined to wage a fight against executive clemency. Mr. Calkins and John Roberts, the latter the victim of Salisbury's attack, have both signified their intention of contesting the granting of a pardon.

Salisbury, a man 75 years of age, for several years harbored a grievance against various Wood county lawyers, whom he accused of conspiracy against him. Last fall he entered the office of District Attorney Roberts at Grand Rapids and demanded that he prosecute some of the alleged conspirators on charges which were purely imaginary. Roberts refused to take any steps toward prosecution and Salisbury then whipped out a revolver, which he fired at Roberts. Roberts suspected trouble and was on his guard. He grappled with Salisbury and escaped with only a flesh wound. Later Salisbury was tried at Wausau and sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary.

Salisbury's past record will be aired in the forthcoming hearing on the application for a pardon. At various times he threatened to take matters in his own hands, it is alleged, because of mistreatment at the hands of administrators of justice. Governor Philipp and other prominent officials were communicated with at various times by him. He is said to be very strong physically for one of his age and those opposed to his release argue that confinement in the state prison will not have a unious effect upon his health. They fear that if he were released he would attempt to secure vengeance against those who brought about his conviction.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

Misjudgment in Driving Results in Accident on Meehan Road Sunday Afternoon

Misjudgment in driving resulted in the collision of two automobiles on the Meehan road west of Plover late Sunday afternoon. Both cars were damaged but no persons injured.

THE CROPS LOOK GOOD

Grains Are Coming Along Fine And Rye Is Now Being Cut—Early Potatoes Not Promising

With the exception of potatoes, all crops in Portage county are looking good, according to farmers and those interested in crops in the county.
Nearly all of the rye in Portage county has already been harvested, and a good yield is reported in all portions of the county. Other grains are looking good and there is promise of a good crop. Corn has been growing the best in recent years, the hot weather and rains doing it worlds of good.

Some early potatoes have been dug, and farmers have been eating them for the past few weeks, but there have been few home grown early tubers on the market as yet. The early potato crop has not been good, but the later potatoes are more promising.
Haying began several weeks ago, and the majority of the farmers have their hay in already. Marsh hay, however, is a little late, and is just being cut now.

Mrs. C. M. Anderson, 622 Brawley street, has received an interesting newspaper published in Coblenz, Germany, for the members of the army of occupation, from her brother, Fred J. Potter, who is now serving in Germany. The paper which is called the Amaroc News, is dated June 28 and is composed of one sheet of five columns, printed on both sides. The paper contains a big story of the signing of the peace terms by Germany.

RENOVATING IS BEGUN

Former Cassidy Building at 441 Main Street now Undergoing Improvements

Work has begun on dismantling the building at 441 Main street formerly occupied by the Sport saloon. The property was purchased some time ago by George K. Pappas from M. Cassidy and the fixtures used in the former saloon were removed from the building early this month.

The building is to be completely renovated and is to be used by Mr. Pappas as a candy store and ice cream parlor when improvements have been completed. The east wall is to be extended out a foot, a white front installed and a tile floor laid, the entire work to involve the expenditure of several thousand dollars.

B. V. Martin is in charge of the work and a crew of men began making the alterations last Thursday. At least 10 weeks will be required to complete the work. When finished the first floor will be occupied by Mr. Pappas, and the second floor will be equipped for office use.

Mr. Pappas, who is the proprietor of the Olympia Candy Kitchen at 109 Strong's avenue, will continue to conduct that establishment after opening his new place of business. His brother, William Pappas, who is at present located at Watertown, will have charge of the Strong's avenue store.

HUNDREDS ATTEND T. H. HANNA FUNERAL

Final Service Is Held at the Church of the Intercession Sunday Afternoon—Burial in Forest Cemetery

Final obsequies over the remains of the late T. H. Hanna were held Sunday afternoon. Following a short private service at the home of the deceased on Clark street, the remains were taken to the Church of the Intercession, where hundreds of personal friends and acquaintances waited as mourners.
George B. Nelson, Judge B. B. Park, H. J. Finch, J. N. Peckert, D. E. Frost, F. S. Hyer, C. E. Urbahn and Dr. W. H. Wilson entered the church as casket bearers a few minutes after 3 o'clock and the casket was conveyed to the front of the church and given a place before the sanctuary. The service began almost immediately. Rev. E. Croft officiating.

Included in the impressive ritualistic service was a message delivered to the mourners by the Rev. Fr. Gear, who paid a high tribute to the character and life of the late Mr. Hanna.
Two fitting and appropriate verses were read by him eulogizing the life of the deceased. Father Gear said in part: "He led a life devoted to the service of his fellow men. There was not a selfish moment in his life. As we are all bowed down today there is something beautiful about his death. Active and full of vigor, he wanted to be able to exercise that vigor in the service of his fellow creatures up to the last moment of his life. He is a man struck down as his life's work was well begun. He has graduated from this life and God has given him something bigger and greater to do."

Long before the arrival of the funeral party at the church, the building was filled and its seating capacity overtaxed. Additional chairs were placed in the aisles of the edifice to accommodate the mourners and others stood in the entry way. A few minutes before 3 o'clock members of the Elks' lodge entered in a body and were ushered to seats on the left of the building. They were followed by a body of Odd Fellows and then by members of the Moose lodge. The deceased had been a member of all three fraternal bodies.

At the conclusion of the service the casket was taken to the automobile hearse waiting at the door and conveyed to Forest cemetery for burial. Fifty automobiles formed a procession which followed the hearse. Flowers in profusion covered the casket as it was lowered into the grave and the body of the late Mr. Hanna consigned to earth.
Among those from out of the city who were here for the funeral were the following: Miss Mary E. Hanna, a sister of the late Mr. Hanna; Mrs. Mary Ross, a cousin of the deceased; Mr. and Mrs. William N. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lindsay, Mrs. Jennie Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. William Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roman, Clifford Roman, Miss Irene Duffy, Mrs. W. Irvine and son, Kenneth, John Stevens, Herman Lindow, J. C. MEXICAN ACTS STIR CONGRESS

Senators Plan to Discuss Steps to Be Taken to Stop Outrages against Americans in Caranza Republic

AUSTRIAN TERMS ARE COMPLETE

Last Installment of Document Is Delivered to Representatives at St. Germain

(By United Press)

Washington, July 21—Developments in the Mexican situation today were as follows:

Senators deeply interested in the Mexican situation planned to discuss what congress can do to stop outrages against Americans.

The house rules committee prepared to hear the testimony of Ambassador Fletcher, recently returned from Mexico City.

Mexico informed the United States that she would do all that is possible to punish the authors of the "odious crime" in which John W. Correll was killed and his wife assaulted. No further word was received from Mexico as to the robbery of American navy sailors in the Tanesi river.

After hearing Fletcher, the committee expected to decide its course on the Gould resolution providing for special senate and house investigations with broad powers. If this investigation is ordered, members of congress stated, it will be given evidence to show, among other things, that Caranza's government won recognition from the United States through bribery and deception.

Daniels Denies Story

Washington, July 21—Secretary Daniels of the navy department today denied that any portion of the Pacific fleet, now enroute to San Francisco, would be diverted to Mexican waters. "Such reports are baseless," he declared.

Asks Mexican Facts

Washington, July 21—The foreign relations committee today ordered a favorable report on a resolution requesting that the state department furnish all available information on the Mexican situation insofar as it affects the United States since the Diaz regime.

The Austrian Treaty

Paris, July 21—The Austrians were in possession of the complete terms of the peace settlement today. The remainder of the document, the first section of which was handed to them June 2, was given to their representatives at St. Germain yesterday by Paul Dasta, secretary of the peace conference.

The Austrians have 15 days in which to file additional observations. These are things Austria must do under the terms:

Accept responsibility for loss and damage to the allies through the war of aggression.

Surrender all of her merchant fleet and one-fifth of the river fleet within one month.

Make reparation within 30 years for damages to allied civilians and property.

Abolish conscription and reduce her army to 30,000.

Accept a share of the former dual-monarchy pre-war debt, which is divided among the nations which formerly constituted the empire.

Reduce all armaments and surrender all surplus.

Renounce Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk treaties.

Turn over all cables to the allies.

Tyranny in Hungary

Vienna, July 19 (delayed)—A government more tyrannical than that of Bela Kun exists in Budapest today. Szamuely, one of the people's commissaries, seized control following Bela Kun's attempt to shift responsibility for his acts onto the coalition government. The Hungarian white leaders are organizing their armies for cooperation with the allies in the offensive which the latter is expected to launch against the soviets.

Strike Movement Wanes

Paris, July 21—Reports received today from various allied nations indicated that the international strike planned by the proletariat as a protest against intervention in Russia and Hungary is losing interest and is destined to be a failure. The leaders of the proposed strike have either lost control of their followers or have heeded the government warnings.

New War Threatened

Washington, July 21—The war must be fought over again unless the allied nations provide some means of making Germany keep the peace, Senator Pomerehne, Ohio, democratic member of the senate foreign relations committee, declared to the senate today in a three-hour speech in advocacy of the league of nations.

Bela Kun Flees

Bastille, July 21—The Europa Press announced today that Bela Kun, deposed Hungarian soviet dictator, had fled from Budapest to Vienna.

BALLOTS OF WOMEN
WORTH GOING AFTER

Politics in State Get Early Start with Feminine Voters in Fight

for First Time in the State's History

(By United Press)

Milwaukee, July 19.—The political pot is beginning to seethe with the legislature about to adjourn and with no campaign for state office in sight before September, 1920. But already the Democratic Central committee has begun activities by establishing headquarters in a hotel here, Chairman Otto La Follette and Secretary Joseph Gludice are in charge. They will remain until the votes of November, 1920, are counted.

The secret of this early start is because the women are in the fight for the first time in this state and politicians admit the feminine voters are interested enough to make the result a matter of grave doubt. Nothing has been said as yet by the Democrats as to prospective candidates.

The republicans are strong on candidates already. The various wings of the party or the interested individuals themselves are "flying the kites" for themselves. They include Roy P. Wilcox, state senator and defeated 1918 candidate; J. N. Tipton, equity society head and also defeated in 1918; Lieutenant Governor Edward F. Dittmar, La Follette candidate; Merlin Hull, secretary of state and regarded as a candidate able to merge all factions; L. C. Whitte, former speaker and regarded as Governor E. L. Phillips' choice. There seems to be some difference of opinion among the La Follette faction as State Senator Henry Huber is also being mentioned for governor. Huber was once La Follette's secretary.

Dr. Albert J. Pullen, Food du Lac, with a war service record, is candidate for lieutenant governor. C. E. Shaffer, chief clerk of the assembly for many terms, is being urged to run for secretary of state. The same honor may be sought by W. B. Taylor, assistant secretary of state.

Colonel Leitan, Madison banker, and Colonel John Turner, Mauston, back from service with the Thirty-second division, are candidates for state treasurer. But the incumbent, Henry Johnson, will seek a fifth term. State Senators J. Henry Bennett, Vilguba, and George R. Shoen, River Falls, are being urged to make the run for attorney general.

SENATOR FROM IOWA
DEFIES OLD GUARD

Kenyon Says Republican Party is Now under Control of Progressives, with Stand-patters Routed

By L. C. Martin

United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, July 17.—"The Old Guard's power is broken."

This declaration was made today by progressive republican senators, who were twitted by stand-patters, after the progressives had voted for Penrose and Warren, old guard standbys, for chairmanships of important state committees. Stand-patters construed that vote as an old guard victory, but—

"Progressives have not and will not accept the old guard's leadership on matters of national policy where the welfare of the great mass of people is concerned," said Senator Kenyon, Iowa, today. It was declared that if republicans lose the 1920 elections, they can blame "stand-patter leadership in congress."

Progressives beat Warren in their first set-to, over the appropriation for the federal employment service. With the help of democrats, progressives forced Warren to put back a $400,000 appropriation which he had cut to $200,000 in a "deal" with house members. They also won their fight to save the tariff commission from being destroyed by Warren's appropriations committee, and prevented the crippling of the federal trade commission by reduction of its appropriation.

The republican progressives now have perfected a working arrangement where by they will get democratic support in their war on the Smoot-Penrose-Warren-Lodge old guard, on progressive measures. They also intend to see that no tariff or tax legislation prepared by the stand-patter leaders is passed, they declared, until it has been made to conform to progressive ideas.

KUN OVERTHROWN
BY HUNGARIANS

War Minister and "Virtual Dictator" of Soviet Government is Forced to Give up Under Pressure

BULGARIAN TREATY COMING

Ally of Germany in War Will be Forced to Pay Big Sum As Reparation

(By United Press)
Paris, July 18.—Dispatches received from Vienna by the peace conference report that Bela Kun, war minister and virtual dictator of the Hungarian soviet government, has been overthrown. General Boehm, former commander of the red army, and Herr Lander are said to have assumed control of the government. The Bolsheviks, it was said, are in danger of attack by a white army composed largely of peasants.

The Bulgarian Treaty
Paris, July 18.—The allies' reparation bill for Bulgaria will be from one to two billion francs, it was learned today. A decision was reached to avoid elaborate reparation provisions by naming a fixed sum. The peace treaty with Bulgaria was nearly complete today.

Germany Wants Loans

By Carl Groat
United Press Staff Correspondent
Berlin, July 17.—Germany wants loans or credits from America. Director Wasserman of the Deutsche bank made this clear today in an interview in which he pointed out that raw materials and food are essential if Germany is to meet the obligations of the entente and become a stable member of world society. German bankers would not make overtures to Americans, Wasserman said, as they did not know whom to approach, but would wait for American financiers to renew relations.

Treaty Delay Feared

By L. C. Martin
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, July 18.—Foreign governments are being sounded in their attitude toward the proposed Root reservations to the peace treaty in the event that the senate should adopt one or all of them, a leading administration official today. He indicated the belief that if the senate adopts the reservations counter-reservations will be proposed by at least one other government. The general result, he declared, would be: First, a serious delay in the carrying out of the peace settlement through delaying final ratification by a sufficient number of powers to make the treaty effective; second, hampering of the immediate and successful launching of the league of nations; third, reopening of questions presumed to have been settled by the treaty.

Plan Labor Conference

Washington, July 18.—Plans for the international labor conference created by the peace treaty when it convenes here for the first meeting in October were outlined today by Dr. James Shotwell, American representative on the organizing committee of the conference. Four major questions will be taken up, he said. They are as follows: An 8-hour day throughout the world; state help to remedy for unemployment; safeguarding of the health of mothers obliged to work for a living; consideration of women in dangerous trades; prohibition of child labor up to 14 years of age. Four delegates from each nation in the league of nations will be sent to the conference, two representing the government, one capital and one labor.

Calls More Senators

Washington, July 18.—President Wilson today continued attacks on the opposition to the league of nations by calling to the White House four republican senators who are known to be open-minded on the subject. They are: Kellogg of Minnesota, Kenyon of Iowa, Capper of Kansas and McNary of Oregon. Kellogg has favored a league of nations in principle for some time. Kenyon's attitude is considered doubtful. Capper is known to favor formation of a league, but would like changes in the present covenant. McNary is desirous of having some kind of a league organized. The conferences will be resumed Tuesday as tomorrow the president will rest.

Mr. Lyons owned a fruit ranch in Idaho, and he and his wife were taking a business and pleasure trip through the west, intending to go to the ranch in Idaho after they had visited the Pacific coast. The cause of his death is unknown here, as it was not stated in the message received. Mr. Griffin will go to Minneapolis to attend the funeral, which, it is expected, will be held in Minneapolis on Sunday. Mr. Lyons leaves a family of three daughters and one son besides the widow. He was about 60 years of age.

CALL ON PRESIDENT
TO DISCUSS TREATY

First of Republican Senators to Hold Conference with Wilson Are Received at White House

(By United Press)

Washington, July 17.—President Wilson will continue conferences over the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant with republican senators until he has gone through the entire list, it was said at the White House today. He plans to schedule appointments with four or five each day, allowing one hour for each conference. Ordinarily presidential conferences last only 15 minutes.

The senators invited to call today were: McCumber, North Dakota; Jones, Washington; Colt, Rhode Island, and Nelson, Minnesota. Senator McCumber, the first to call at the White House, remained for an hour with the president. He said he regarded the matters discussed as confidential. McCumber is a member of the senate foreign relations committee and a pro-league republican.

Colt States Stand

Washington, July 17.—The league of nations is necessary to secure enforcement of the peace treaty, Senator Colt, Rhode Island, declared in a senate speech today. Colt, a republican who has been classed as doubtful, declared his support of the league, but withheld his attitude as to reservations. The Monroe doctrine, he explained, should be safeguarded and control of domestic issues maintained.

OLD LANDMARK SOLD

Early Day Building at 434 Clark Street is Purchased by J. I. Iverson

The old Bischoff home at 434 Clark street, one of the oldest residences in the city, is being dismantled and is being removed to different parts of the city to be rebuilt into modern homes. The building was recently purchased by E. E. Carpenter from R. K. McDonald, and Mr. Carpenter in turn sold to J. I. Iverson.

A wing of the building is 30 feet square and has been moved to Water street to be made into a cotage. Two rooms will be added to the wing and a new roof built. The remainder of the old home will be moved from Clark to Wisconsin street, where it will be built over.

The property at 434 Clark street was purchased by the Elks from G. W. Andrae several years ago for a site for an Elks' club house here. Later the Elks disposed of it to R. K. McDonald. The house which has been sold by Mr. McDonald was condemned recently and its tenants at that time forced to move on that account.

WOULD FIGHT WORLD
IN SOVIET DEFENSE

Bolsheviks in Hungary Stand at Bay Like Wounded Lion With Strong Opposition From Within

By Edward Byng
United Press Staff Correspondent
Copyright 1919

Vienna, July 17.—Bolshevik Hungary, like a wounded lion at bay, stands ready to battle the whole world in defense of the soviet government, yet a small allied army, especially if it included American and British troops, could crush the red army with ease.

The food situation throughout Hungary is critical. Budapest is virtually starving. The country is torn by internal dissension. Bela Kun is confronted with the problem of raising an army from a people whose morale is at its lowest ebb and equipping it with arms and munitions that are non-existent.

Should the expected allied offensive fail to materialize there is one other factor that should bring about the Bolshevik downfall—a concerted attack by the diversified anti-soviet governments.

The red army is prepared to fight the Roumanians and Czechs and probably could wage a successful warfare against them, but it has no stomach for battling its brothers in the white army. At present the white forces are scattered and without competent leaders or a definite objective. Entire divisions of red forces, however, have served formal notice that they will refuse to fight the white army. A number of workmen's battalions were disbanded and returned to the factories because of this stand.

An allied offensive would undoubtedly result in an immediate crisis in the soviet government. If the white army were to attack, it is certain the streets would run red with blood, for there are tens of thousands of bitter anti-Bolsheviks in the capital who would welcome such a signal for a counter revolt. The same persons would be counted upon to resist an allied offensive because of racial pride.

There is a strong political movement against the soviets under way already, fostered by powerful trade unions. At the same time the red leaders are growing more and more radical. There are at least 400 political prisoners now in Budapest jails. The railway trainmen and postal and telegraph employees are planning a fusion which will greatly strengthen their opposition to the soviets.

One automobile is owned in Portage county for every fifteen and eight-tenths persons, according to a new table of statistics which has been compiled by the Wisconsin Motorist.

The people of Wood county are near the top of the list when it comes to owning cars. One auto is owned for every eleven and one-tenth persons in the neighboring county. This means that about one-half of the families have automobiles.

Juneau county has one to every fourteen and six-tenths people. Green county leads all the counties in this state with an average of one to every six and three-tenths persons. Wisconsin ranks fifteenth in the list of states owning cars per capita with one car to every thirteen and two-tenths persons.
